For years, the teams of First Class Tours and Sierra Stage Lines have worked closely to provide transportation services to the greater Houston Market. We are pleased to announce a formal merger as part of our new business arrangement with the All Aboard America Holdings team. This union marks a new chapter for both companies as they formally become the largest and most complete motorcoach transportation provider in the region.

This new company will be known as First Class Transportation in keeping with the tradition of the First Class brand that has been serving Texans for over 20 years. The legacy, started by Lanny Rogers in 1998, continues today with this new step and furthers our commitment to provide a first-class experience every mile of the journey. Sierra Coaches, based in South Houston near Hobby Airport and First Class Tours in North Houston near Humble, Texas, is now officially under the same umbrella and provides services from both locations.

This merger also marks significant changes for beloved team members. We are excited for Ms. Jean Rogers, who has served on the First Class Tours executive team since 1998, as a founder of the company. She had poured her heart and soul into the business and has left a legacy of perseverance, integrity, expertise, and southern charm. We will miss her presence in the office but are excited that she will be able to take time with her family and especially her grandchildren. Also, we are pleased to announce the retirement of Ms. Sandy Reid after 20 plus years of service on the Sierra sales team. Her contribution to the success of Sierra and the passion she had for customers and staff alike was foundational to bringing this merger together.

Together, with the All Aboard America Holdings group, First Class Transportation is opening an exciting new chapter in its growth as a company that started with the singular passion of providing a quality experience for passengers. That vision has grown and become the lifeblood of the organization, driving every decision to be "first class in every way."

Company services will continue to include charter, tour, casino shuttles, contract transportation services, and more under this new brand. Our Team looks forward to serving you soon!
